

PREMIERE: Kim Cameron – “Scattered” [Video]

Jake Craney

Miami-based artist Kim Cameron recently released her Greatest Hits album in January. Today we are excited to premiere the video for “Scattered” – a completely reworked track from Kim Cameron’s first album, Contradictions, produced by DJ Halo. The production has a very surreal feel that keeps you guessing as it twists and turns in this very fresh chill house genre. The music video mirrors that effect in this creative animation by Bang Productions. In the video, Kim and DJ Halo travel the country for inspiration to write and produce the next biggest hit. “Scattered” is a song about a woman who wants to do it all, but finds herself torn between her passions and the love of her life. With some fascinating animation, this one will sure to captivate you.

In her own words:

“Working with DJ Halo is almost like spreading butter, he’s a smooth producer, super easy to work with and his work has this amazing fresh voice. When we thought about a music video for “Scattered,” we wanted people to understand some of the things we do to bring out our best creative sounds. It is more than a studio experience, but experience with each some of the world’s most beautiful places. Together, we find our creative souls and bring them to the surface. I think this video highlights how we get to the creation of a new tune, always changing and morphing.”
