Georgetown singer Kim Cameron and her Top-40 indie band 'Side FX' will hitting the television airways in the D.C. metro area this month from March 11-29th. Comcast subscribers can watch Side FX's 30-minute live taping from a recent Miami concert.

The concert was shot at Miami's oldest club 'Tobacco Road' as a part of their Spin Me Dizzy Tour. The group had just returned from an international spin in the Caribbean for the better part of the fall after announcing tour dates on the Playboy radio channel.

Comcast signed up after reviewing the high energy concert which is filled with smoke and lighting effects and Side FX's top electronica dance tunes. To see the concert, Comcast subscribers should use their remote and hit Xfinity On Demand. Look for the folder Get Local, then Entertainment and finally, Side FX.
