Side FX releases new single that debuted on Billboard at #42.

With only four weeks under her belt, the latest single 'Now You're Mine,' Kim Cameron is proving that as an indie dance artist, no club is immune from her sound. This week, the new single debuted on Billboard's Dance/Club chart at #42 with a bullet. Even the music video has pulled in over 100,000 views.

Riding off the heels of her Top 20 Billboard Dance Club chart success in October 2013, Cameron released this new dance track with more drive than a racing car. This song is co-written/produced with powerhouse DJ Steve MrMig Migliore, and Billboard charting, Grammy-Nominated Mike Rizzo, has already been the talk of the underground electronica town.

This is Cameron's third Billboard hit, with the first on the Top 40 chart in 2011. It is her seventh charted song on Medibase in the last three years. "This song is 100% my story," explains Cameron. "While most songs I write are about other people I meet, this one is my journey."

Also, announced this week was a coveted spot with the renown P.S. 22 Chorus. On January 28, at their Staten Island, NY location, the students and Cameron will take on the new single, raising this indie artist's bar even further. She will join the likes of Tori Amos, Crowded House, Daughtry, Carrie Underwood, Stevie Nicks, Katy Perry and a host of other national stars who have all performed with this famous chorus
